NEW SALESMAN FOR M6 MOTORS

By Liam Timmins

Now entering their thirteenth year in business, M6 Motors are growing their team as they welcome Neil Molloy as a senior salesperson. Since its foundation in 2011 by Alan Naughton, the Kilgarve based car dealership expanded from a two-man operated outfit to a business now employing in-around a dozen employees.

Some might recognise their newest salesman as a cohost on the Galway Bay FM show 'Mollie in the Morning'. Although Neil continues to enjoy a career in radio and television after twenty-five plus years in the industry, he has always been eager to return to the practise of sales. Prior to his appointment, Molloy has worked for major names in the trade including Heineken Ireland and Richmond Marketing.

"This was an easy decision for me" Neil notes, "my passion for cars and love for sales all in one, the perfect job."

Neil Molloy is no stranger to town. Originally from Attymon, his late mother Mary worked as a nurse in St Brigid's Hospital. He also spent time working in his uncle's drapery store, Michael Ward Menswear

"I love Ballinasloe, it's almost like a homecoming for me and it's great to have family living here. I get a great kick talking to costumers and being able to make a connection with the town, especially GAA fans who all know my Uncle Willie and of course my Aunt Thelma.

She lives just down the road from M6, so that will be handy for the odd surprise lunch visit" laughs Molloy.

Owner Alan Naughton expressed his delight with the new appointment: "Neil's been a costumer of ours for years and has always shown a keen interest in what we do here. It seems like he's always been with us, except now he is selling cars. He is also Eanna's cousin (General Manager with M6 Motors) so they really work well together and have the same sense of humour, which I have no doubt will be seen on our social media pages. "

Now settling into his new role, Neil has his sights set high at the car dealership: "I am looking forward to working with an amazing group of people who are passionate about local enterprise and how important business is in the local community."

M6 Motors are open Monday to Friday from 08:30 to 18:00, and Saturdays from 09:00 to 16:00. The business can be contacted on (090) 964 5801 or www.m6motors.ie.
